

20 SEPTEMBER (MORNING)

LUCANIAN DOLOMITES IN THE AIR BETWEEN CASTELMEZZANO AND PIETRAPERTOSA

Not far away from Potenza the gently rolling hills of Basilicata are suddenly interrupted by the suggestive peaks of Lucanian Dolomites, impressive mountains that draw a unique landscape and where once only eagles dared. Perched on their slopes are two villages that, by the virtue of their location, look like nativity scenes carved into the rock, that is: PIETRAPERTOSA and CASTELMEZZANO.

Both villages have been classified as two of the “100 most beautiful villages in Italy” and wandering through their streets is easy to understand why: houses built against the bare rock, narrow alleys, steep stairs carved into the rock.

CASTELMEZZANO and PIETRAPERTOSA are linked from the main road but for the more adventurous there is a way to reach them by flight! Tied securely to a steel cable, it is possible to experience the thrill of flying and enjoy an exceptional bird eye view, this is the “Angel Flight”, one of the most exciting attraction of the region. It consists in a steel cable connecting the peaks of the two villages and which allows visitors to fly between them and admire the wide valley at up to 120 km/h speed and over 800 meters of altitude.
